

LOOMPALicious

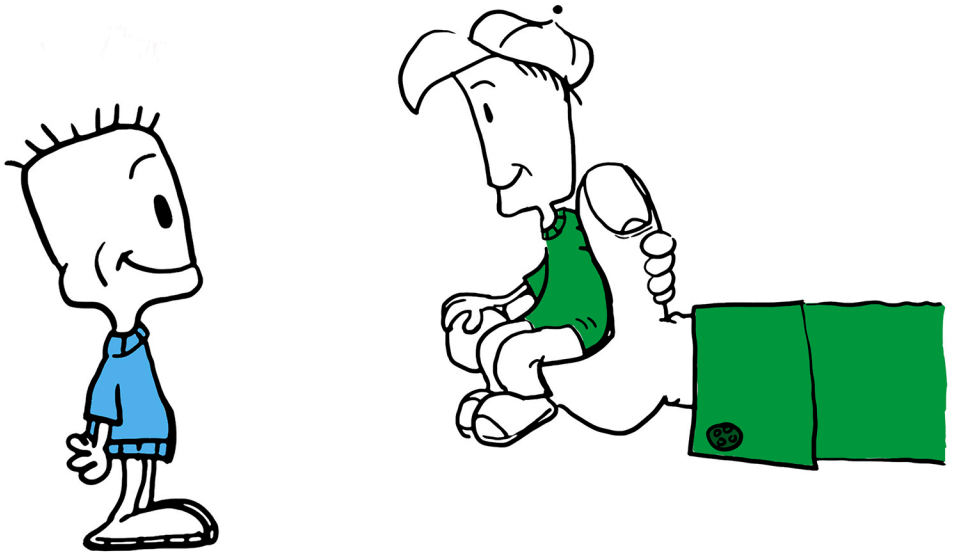

Nate is trying to imagine his Loomp character but each one shares a common trait. Read on to find out what that trait is.

Nate knows that kids in the neighborhood
have imaginary friends,
so he decided to give it a try
and join in the trend.

A Loomp is what these imaginary friends are called.
No design is too outrageous.
No-one will be appalled.

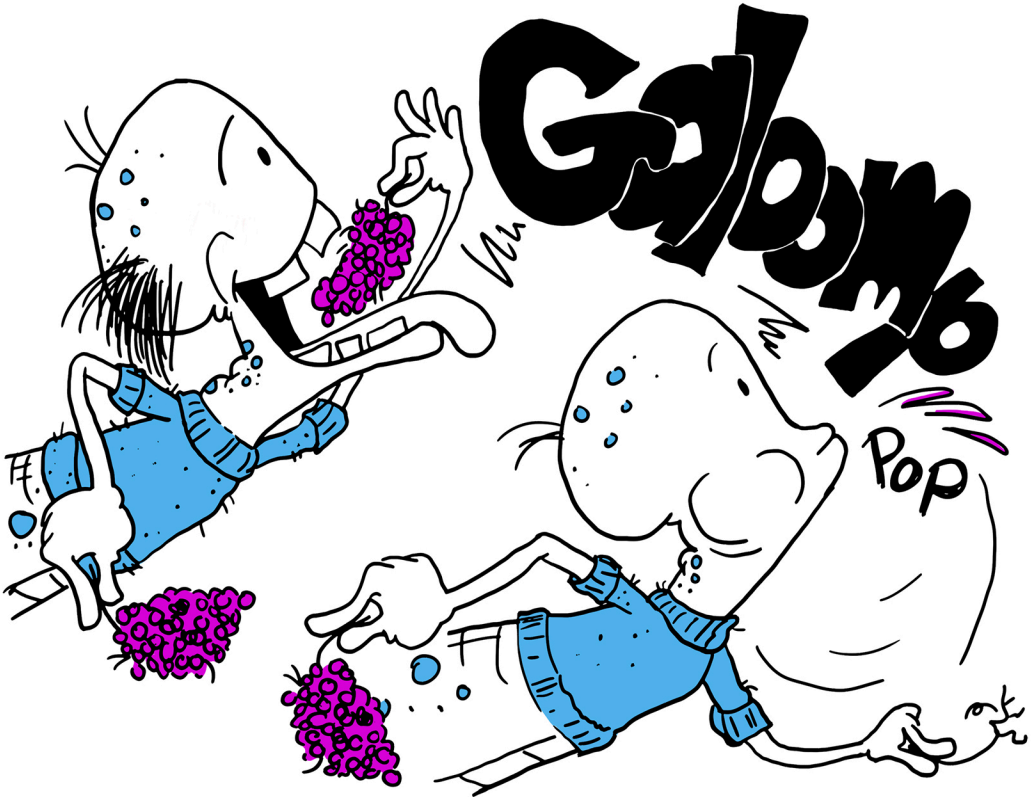

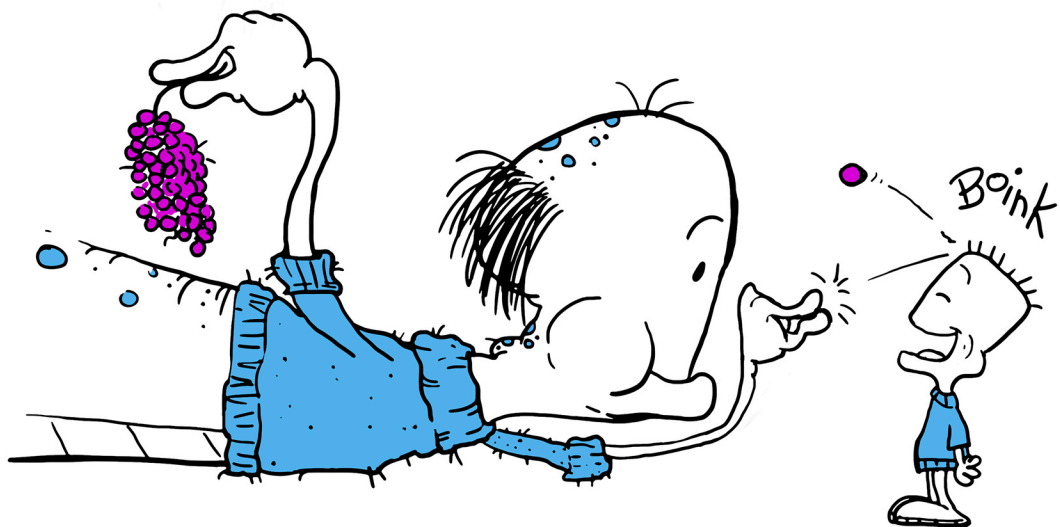

Perhaps it could look like a Quadopuss
with a great big plate of lasagna.
He's very very careful
and won't get any on ya'.

How about a semi-long grape eating Jerry DaLoomp
who could eat a whole bunch
in one quick Galoomp.

It occurred to Nate that his Loomps
were all doing something delicious.
When someone asked him to describe it
He said it was simply...
“Loompalicious”.
